

March 10, 2020

To: Local news media

From: Paula Witherell, Director of Institutional Communications

Subject: Statement on Remote Learning

At this time, Daemen College has not transitioned from classroom teaching to remote learning in response to the coronavirus situation. The health, safety, and well-being of the Daemen community remains a top priority. In the event that the decision is made to conduct classes remotely, Daemen has made preparations to ensure the continuity of classes, services, and college operations. Daemen will continue to closely monitor developments with the coronavirus and the determination regarding the delivery of classes will be made as the situation progresses.

A World of Opportunity